NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson took time out from his business schedule to come here Tuesday night for a private dinner in connection with the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

The President flew from Washington and planned to return to the capital after the dinner honoring Mrs. John F. Kennedy and paying tribute to New York area trustees who have worked on behalf of the Kennedy Library fund campaign.

Keystone GOP Plans Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Republican congressmen from Pennsylvania will meet Wednesday to plan their strategy at the party's national convention in an effort to aid the presidential candidacy of Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Rep. Albert W. Johnson, R-Pa., said Tuesday.

Meanwhile a poll of Republican House members from the state showed that generally the members approve of Scranton's announcement that he'll try for the GOP presidential nomination at the San Francisco convention.

Senate Bats Down Rights Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Insistence by a few Dixie bloc senators for a vote on all of their amendments raised the possibility Tuesday that expected passage of the civil rights bill might be delayed until next week.

The Senate continued to steam-roll over one amendment after another offered by the Southern forces, but hundreds more were stacked up awaiting action if the authors want to call them.

Even some of the Southerners seemed willing to get on to the passage vote after bringing up only what they consider vital amendments. And the feeling among the leaders still seemed to be that the vote would come this week.

U Thant Backs Cyprus Force

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U. N. Secretary-General U Thant called Tuesday for a three-month extension of the U. N. force in Cyprus to avoid a possible outbreak of large-scale fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

In a comprehensive report to the Security Council, Thant declared that tensions have shown no sign of easing and both sides had strengthened their military capability since the U. N. force became operative March 27.

The 11-nation council is scheduled to meet later this week, possibly Thursday, and is expected to extend the life of the 6,400-man force. Such an extension had been almost a foregone conclusion at the time the force was authorized.

Voter Apathy Poses Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — An expert on the habits of voters and non-voters said Tuesday efforts must be made to reach apathetic Americans to forestall the chances of violent changes in the nation's political affairs.

Dr. Angus Campbell, director of the survey research center of the University of Michigan, noted that in Western European democracies large groups of people don't take part in elections until "in times of crisis they can be aroused and mobilized by demagogic leaders who promise quick and simple answers."

Stock Market Trading Active

NEW YORK (AP) — The current stock market rally won more adherents Tuesday as prices rose for the fifth of the past six sessions. Trading was more active.

Volume increased to 4.59 million shares from 4.16 million Monday and was the highest since June 4 when 4.88 million shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 4.60 to 818.16.

Assembly Adjourns

$165,000 More Earmarked For ESSC By Legislature

HARRISBURG (AP) — When the legislature adjourned here Tuesday, East Stroudsburg State Teachers College was assured $165,000 more in allocations from the $1.071 billion dollar general appropriations bill.

The college will now receive $1,318,916. Before an amendment was adopted, the local college was slated to get $1,153,916.

Van D. Yetter, Monroe County State Democratic Representative, was one of the sponsors of the Democratic amendment passed in yesterday's session.

The state legislature wound up its 1964 session Tuesday in a bustle of activity as Gov. Scranton sent his congratulations from the midwest where he is campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination.

The final gavels fell in both houses shortly after 5:30 p.m., EDT., following action on three major administration programs — Project 70, eminent domain — Scranton received news of the adjournment by telephone in Topeka, Kan. Legislative procedure requires the House and Senate to inform the governor when they are ready for final adjournment.

"I am delighted with the legislative achievements and deeply grateful to the leadership and members of the General Assembly," Scranton said. "What they have done will keep Pennsylvania going ahead as it has been."

U. S. Pilots Blamed For Laos Bombing

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP) — Speaking Tuesday above the distant rumble of another air attack against his territory, Prince Souphanouvong denounced a raid on this Pathet Lao headquarters town last Thursday as the work of American rather than Laotian government pilots.

"The situation is tense in Laos because acts of sabotage are being committed by American imperialists," the Pathet Lao chief said. He told diplomats and newsmen who flew to Khang Khay to discuss the crisis set off by the spring offensive of his Communist followers.

In line with Red China's arguments, he declared the only way to solve the crisis is to reconvene the 14-nation Geneva conference which agreed on neutrality and independence for Laos in 1962.

The Red prince said he was advised that his troops area, 15 miles northeast of Khang Khay, captured the American reconnaissance pilot shot down June 6. Though that was 10 days ago, he said he is awaiting details.

The pilot has been identified in Washington as Navy Lt. Charles F. Klusmann, 39, of San Diego, Calif. Also held by the Pathet Lao is a commercial airman, Eugene DeBruin of Kaukauna, Wis., whose Air America transport was shot down on a supply-dropping mission last September.

Laotian T28s were bombing Pathet Lao military installations six miles away as Souphanouvong talked with his visitors at his bullet-riddled villa, overlooking an artificial lake. Bomb explosions and Pathet Lao anti-aircraft fire could be heard clearly.

Souphanouvong declared he was sure Americans manned the six T28 fighter-bombers which attacked Khang Khay, though he did not say why. The T28s are propeller-driven, U.S.-made planes the little Laotian air force is using in an effort to immobilize the Pathet Lao.

The 1964 legislature was two sessions—one limited by law to fiscal matters only, the other called by the governor to handle special subjects, such as Project 70 and eminent domain.

In 41 days of the regular session, spread over a period beginning Jan. 7, the legislature approved a record budget of $1.171 billion for the operation of state government during fiscal 1964-65.

The governor made the statement as he got off a plane in this Minnesota city — his third state in eight hours — to make a pitch for support from the 26-vote GOP delegation.

An Associated Press poll indicates that Minnesota sentiment breaks down this way: Eight votes for favorite son candidate, former Rep. Walter Judd, eight votes for Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, and ten votes uncommitted.

In Topeka, Kan., Scranton made a personal appeal to 11 delegates of the 20-vote state contingent to the GOP San Francisco convention.

Commenting on his meeting, Scranton said, "I think we did better in Kansas than we did in Iowa, where we did extremely well."

He left Des Moines, Iowa, this morning after making a bid for that state's 24 delegates at an enthusiastic appearance Monday night before some 3,700 backers in KINT Auditorium.

Scranton indicated that the Kansas delegates he met with were favorable to his cause.

"Also we had indications of support from three others who could not attend the meeting," the governor added.

The governor is scheduled to go to St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday and Denver, Colo., later the same day.

Happy Nikita Tartly Warns Danish Hosts

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev began a 10-day Scandinavian tour Tuesday with light-hearted jinks but soon was warning his Danish hosts of a "cold war" if they are dumb and you are clever."

Khrushchev was referring particularly to agriculture, a field in which Danes are experts. He admitted that, but told them tartly to "just wait and we will show you what a hell of a job we can do."

The premier seemed unabashed by an unspectacular reception. At a luncheon at Copenhagen's Town Hall he even violated his own strict no-drinking rules. He downed a tumbler of strong Danish schnapps, followed it with a beer chaser, and even sipped some wine.

Khrushchev and his party of family members and Soviet officials received a friendly but unimpressive reception when they sailed into Copenhagen aboard the Soviet government luxury liner Bashkirta. Denmark is the first stop in a tour that will take the Soviet party of 40 to Norway and Sweden also.

Goldwater Corrals 56 Texan Votes To Boost Total To 674

But Can Arizonan Keep Delegates?

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Republicans gave Sen. Barry Goldwater 56 delegate votes Tuesday, raising his total in an Associated Press survey to more than enough to win the GOP presidential nomination if he can hold them.

The action boosted Goldwater's total in the nationwide survey of delegates to 674. This is 19 more than the 655 needed for the nomination.

Goldwater, who had addressed the Texans, flew back to Washington before the convention acted, and told reporters on the way he figured the 56 votes would push his pledged and committed strength past the 655 mark.

But he said the job is not done yet. Goldwater said he still needs more delegates — he mentioned the 14 Montana delegates he needs — because of the danger of slippage from among the delegates now on his list.

The Arizona senator could maintain his delegate strength, lose some of it, or increase his margin between now and the GOP nominating convention starting in San Francisco July 13.

The Texas Republican Convention unanimously approved a resolution which said its delegates were "irrevocably committed" to Goldwater until personally released by him.

Earlier, Goldwater in a speech predicted a GOP victory in November. But he warned party members they must unite "against the Democrats and not against yourselves."

"No one Republican can destroy the Republican party," Goldwater told a cheering Texas GOP convention.

The Arizona senator's rival for the nomination, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, has said a ticket headed by Goldwater spelled defeat for other Republican candidates.

More than 11,000 persons jammed the Dallas Memorial Auditorium to hear Goldwater address the Texas Republican Convention.

Appearing relaxed as he faced a sea of Goldwater-for-president signs and only one booing Scranton—the senator said: "We are no longer a party that has to write off one great section of the nation, the South. The Republican party can win in 1964 only if it wins substantial support in the South."

Turning to national defense and foreign affairs, Goldwater said the U.S. "today is being disarmed."

He charged that the Soviet Union was militarily stronger than this country because Soviet intermediate-range ballistic missiles trained on Western Europe tip the balance of nuclear power in favor of the Russians.

Scranton's Life Twice Threatened

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two threats were made on Gov. William Scranton's life—one by telegram and one by telephone — as he came to Minneapolis Tuesday in quest of delegate support at the Republican National Convention.

A telegram was sent to Harrisburg threatening Scranton's life, reported Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandrini said. A telephone call, reporting the wired threat, was received while the Scranton party was in Topeka, Kan., earlier Tuesday.

The FBI here said it was notified by a local radio station of another threat. Station KSTP reported an anonymous call in which a man said, "Gov. Scranton will be assassinated." The caller hung up immediately.

"Nobody would want to do anything like that except an utter fanatic," Scranton told a news conference here when he was asked about the threats. "I'm not interested in fanatics. Let's forget about it."

The threats didn't appear to bother the governor. He was unruffled at the news conference, despite the presence of many plainclothesmen and uniformed policemen.

On his arrival at the airport, Scranton was discouraged by police from greeting the crowd that had turned out to meet him. The governor shrugged off warnings. He left his motorcade car, walked into the terminal and shook hands with his well-wishers.

NEW YORK (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller said Tuesday he has appealed to the Republican party's leading moderates to declare themselves for Gov. William W. Scranton for the GOP presidential nomination.

He did not report any success. The New York governor, who withdrew from the race Monday in favor of Scranton, said at a news conference he had phoned former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and others.

Asked if he was disappointed in the performance of other moderate GOP leaders, Rockefeller responded: "No, I don't indulge in emotionalism."

However, when a reporter said that Nixon had told him that Pennsylvania's Gov. Scranton must line up his convention delegates in the next two weeks, Rockefeller said Nixon was "acting like a commentator, not a political leader."

Rockefeller again did not say whether he will support Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona if the latter is the Republican nominee. Rockefeller was defeated by Goldwater in the California primary.

Vote Hunt Pleases Scranton

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton declared Tuesday his hunt for midwestern delegate votes for the Republican presidential nomination "is working out splendidly."

The governor made the statement as he got off a plane in this Minnesota city — his third state in eight hours — to make a pitch for support from the 26-vote GOP delegation.

An Associated Press poll indicates that Minnesota sentiment breaks down this way: Eight votes for favorite son candidate, former Rep. Walter Judd, eight votes for Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, and ten votes uncommitted.

Senate Tips Hat To Laurel Queen

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate offered its congratulations Monday to 20-year-old Sue Rainsford Hertzler of Carlisle, the 1964 Pocono Mountain Laurel Festival Queen.

Miss Hertzler, a Junior at Hood College, was crowned last Sunday by entertainer Jackie Gleason. She was selected from a field of 400 representing 23 colleges in the East.

Burnley Workshop Now Open

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Burnley Workshop for training of the mentally and physically handicapped opened Monday with two client trainees and a contract to assemble parts for the Ronson Corp. in Delaware Water Gap.

Ceremonies were marked by the arrival of a floral tribute in memory of the late Ralph Burnley, the blind native of Stroudsburg after whom the workshop is named. They were sent by his family.

Directed by George G. Kahl, former deputy commanding officer at the Tobyhanna Army Depot, the workshop is supported by public and private contributions. It is located in the Waring Building at Crystal and Washington Streets in East Stroudsburg.

Letters were sent yesterday to the families of known disabled persons in the area in order to inform them of the workshop's operation and the possibility of training and job placement now available.

Those handicapped persons for whom job placement is possible will remain at the workshop, and work at tasks which make at least partial self-support possible.

Information concerning the workshop may be had by calling the offices of Burnley Workshop of the Poconos, Inc.

U.S. Sends Aid

NHIGATA, Japan (AP) — The U. S. Air Force assigned firefighting planes Tuesday to the battle against huge oil fires blazing in this stricken port city after Tuesday's disastrous earthquake.

Police confirmed 22 dead, 11 missing and more than 200 injured, many seriously, in the 10 states rocked by the strongest quake to hit Japan since the 1923 catastrophe. Property damage ran into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Niigata, hardest hit, counted 10 known dead, 4 missing and 109 injured.

Rescue workers in the quake-shattered area of northern Japan searched the ruins for more dead as disaster relief crews moved into Niigata with food and water and equipment to battle the oil fires.

U. S. planes based at Tachikawa Air Base, near Tokyo, planned to put 4,000 gallons of fire extinguishing chemicals on the burning oil tanks.

Virtually the only light in the city through the night came from the fires, and rescue workers labored in their light.

The quake hit at 1:01 p.m. local time Tuesday. It unleashed a mild tidal wave that broke a dike and flooded a large part of this industrial city of 340,000 population.

As night fell Niigata had no electricity, running water, or cooking gas. Buildings in the area withstood the quake in general, but more than 10,000 homes were flooded and 570 had collapsed, police reported. Forty of the city's 65 public schools were damaged.

James Robert Acquitted In Union Deal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Federal Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., acquitted James Robert, 31-year-old laborer from East Stroudsburg, Pa., Tuesday of aiding and abetting in the embezzlement of union funds.

But he refused to dismiss charges against Mary M. McConnell, 31, of Allentown, Pa., construction and General Laborers Union. She is accused in U.S. District Court of embezzling $7,065.

Miss McConnell's attorney, Herbert Brenner, moved for a directed verdict of acquittal after the government rested its case in the trial that began a week ago.

Atty. David Freeman, representing Robert, said in arguing successfully for dismissal that the government failed to show his client "intended the union to be deprived of the money."

The government's final witness was Allan M. Frantz, Nazareth, Pa., an accountant who audited the local's books.

Rebel Priest Still Wears Roman Collar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A "rebel priest," as headlines call him, answered a summons to a private conference at Italian Catholic archdiocese headquarters Tuesday, but what transpired was not disclosed.

When a newsmen asked, "Are you still a priest?" The Rev. William DuBay called back: "My collar's still on!"

Loud cheers went up from a score of Negro pickets carrying such banners as "Shall We Return to the Inquisition?" and "Stop the Crucifixion of Father DuBay; send a Telegram to the Pope Today."

DuBay, 29, assistant pastor of St. Albert the Great Church in suburban Compton, emerged, apparently still standing by his request to Pope Paul VI for removal of James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles.

The priest made public last Thursday his letter to the Pope, accusing the cardinal of "gross malfeasance" and "inexcusable abuses" on civil-rights matters. "The white cleric's parish is about 80 per cent Negro,"

Bus Dives Through Torn Gap In Bridge

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Continental Trailways bus nosedived into Lake Pontchartrain before dawn Tuesday when two heavy barges tore a 23-foot gap in the world's longest bridge.

Six passengers perished in 15 feet of water. The bus driver and an army sergeant survived, rescued by a courageous teenager who arrived just moments after the crash.

Pushed by a towboat, the long gravel-loaded barges smashed into the bridge pilings as the bus was passing overhead. Four sections of concrete roadway and the careening bus tumbled with a roar into the placid lake waters.

"We didn't see the bus go into the water, but we heard screaming and hollering," recalled Jackie Church, 19.

Church and a companion, Bernard E. Gautreau, 42, were first at the scene.

"I could see people floating," the teen-ager said. "I hollered to the towboat. 'Throw me two life preservers.' Then I jumped in."

Church, with Gautreau's help, recovered one body and also held the two survivors above water until Coast Guard helicopters arrived. Skin divers pulled the other bodies from the submerged bus.

Authorities questioned towboat personnel to learn why the barges rammed the 24-mile-long bridge. Visibility was excellent and the lake calm.

The accident was 1.5 miles north of a draw bridge towboats are supposed to use and 8.5 miles north of the New Orleans entrance.

Ernest Vaughn, 38, the bus driver from Jackson, Miss., was reported in fair condition following abdominal surgery. Staff Sgt. William Cockerham of Ft. Benning, Ga., was listed in good condition with multiple bruises.

Senate Honors Harvey Taylor

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate paid one final tribute Monday to its grand old man, M. Harvey Taylor, unanimously electing him president pro-tempore for the interim period between the 1964 and 1965 legislatures.

Taylor, an 88-year-old Republican from Dauphin County, was defeated April 28 in his bid for re-nomination to a seventh straight four-year term in the Senate. His reign ends Nov. 30 after which Majority Leader James S. Berger, R-Pottsville, takes over as acting president-pro-temp.

Sell Homes For Flood Project

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A long standing dispute between the government and two brothers ordered to vacate their homes because of a flood control project appears to have been settled amicably.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert Tucker said Tuesday that Henry and Richard Ruth families of Corydon, Warren County, should be moved out by the end of next month after they receive government checks for their property.

The Ruth homes are on land to be inundated by the Allegheny River reservoir.

Both men had balked at leaving because they figured the government's offers for their property were too low. They appealed the appraisals, sitting tight in the meantime.

On Monday a U.S. District Court jury set the value of Henry Ruth's land at $9,373. The government had offered $6,700; Ruth wanted $14,000.

Haircut Cost Hiked In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Starting July 14 a man's haircut will cost $2—a 25-cent increase—in most of the city's barbershops.

On the same date a shave will go from $1 to $1.25 and a child's haircut from $1.25 to $1.50.

The date for starting the increase was set Monday night by the local chapters of the Pennsylvania League of Master Barbers of America.

The rise is expected eventually to affect suburban barber shops.

Postoffice's Oil Heat Raises Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed use of oil to heat a post office to be built in Shamokin, Pa., raised a protest this week from W. A. Boyle, president of the United Mine Workers.

In a letter to Postmaster General John A. Gronowski, Boyle said:

"The use of oil in this installation is a direct affront to the coal miners of the anthracite area."

"It is an immediate threat to their jobs and income security. Further, it is in direct opposition to the announced desire of the administration to help promote revitalization of the Appalachian region."

The Post Office Department did not comment immediately.

Greeks Join Army Over UN Protest

LARNACA, Cyprus (AP)—The Cyprus government of President Archbishop Makarios this week conscripted hundreds of enthusiastic Greek Cypriot youths for an army being organized over the protests of Turkish Cypriots, Britain and Turkey.

They lined up at registration centers under the provisions of a new law approved by Parliament two weeks ago despite a veto by Fazil Kucuk, the Turkish Cypriot vice president.

Turkey and Britain protested that the law violated the constitution, but Makarios asserted that continuing threats by Turkey to invade Cyprus made the call-up imperative.

Greece has declared it will side with the Greek Cypriots in the event of a Turkish invasion. Turkey, Greece and Britain are signatories of the treaty under which Cyprus gained independence in 1960.

The British queens complain some of the contests they engage in are won on how the girls respond to advances from the judges.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, a veteran Democrat, recently got the chance to jab the Republicans.

He received a letter addressed to him as governor of Connecticut, saluting him as "dear fellow Republican" and asking for a party contribution.

Ribicoff wrote a letter to Republican National Chairman William E. Miller which said in part: "It has been four years since I was governor of Connecticut. I know the Republican party is often a bit behind the times but if all your information is as out of date as your fundraising department, I really fear for the future of the two-party system."

"Because I honestly believe it is important for your party to bring up to date all of its information and hopefully, its philosophy as well, I enclose $1 which I hope will start the 'Fund for Up-To-Date Information in the Republican Party.'"

Project 70 Gets Final Approval

HARRISBURG (AP)—Project 70, the long-range land acquisition program to protect Pennsylvania's "green space" from urban sprawl, was given final legislative approval Tuesday. The House passed the enabling legislation on a vote of 166-39 in one of the last acts of the 1964 special session.

A short time later the Senate accepted House amendments on a vote of 46-3 and sent the bill to Gov. Scranton for his signature.

Approval of the enabling legislation came three years after former Gov. David L. Lawrence asked the assembly to begin work on the program, designed to buy land for future use before it is gobbled up by rapidly growing cities.

A $70 million bond proposal was approved by the 1961 and 1963 sessions and the voters gave their approval in a referendum last year.

Action by the two sessions and the voters was required by the constitution to create the debt.

The bill, as finally passed, is broader than the original concept, which sought to concentrate on land near large municipalities. It would provide for land purchases by the fish and game commissions and acquisition in areas further removed from cities.

The Department of Forests and Waters would be given $40 million for purchases, the fish and game commissions $5 million each. Another $20 million is set aside for state grants to aid municipalities in making approved purchases.

The program is slated for completion by 1970.

Moderates Cheer Scranton's Entry

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's decision to support Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania for the GOP presidential nomination was cheered this week by moderate Republicans and discounted by Sen. Barry Goldwater's backers.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., a Scranton rooster, said the New York governor's announcement of support for Scranton constitutes "a very important step in a series of moves across the country to mobilize sentiment within the party that it must have a nominee supporting its platforms and its congressional record."

And Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said Rockefeller's move "boosts Gov. Scranton's chances from the barely possible to the very hopeful."

But Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., a Goldwater backer, said he had anticipated Rockefeller's move, and he asked:

"How many votes is he going to give Scranton? How many dollars is he going to give him? I'm for Goldwater because I think he can win in November."

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., who headed Goldwater's unsuccessful campaign in the March New Hampshire presidential primary, said the combination of the Rockefeller-Scranton forces was inevitable.

"I haven't thought that Goldwater has the nomination sewed up," Cotton said. "He is far in the lead but it is not impossible that a combination such as this portends could tie up the convention. I think Goldwater has too strong a following to be beaten, but it could happen."

Cotton said he thinks that if Scranton hopes to build up his strength he will have to take stands on issues in the pre-convention period that could alienate most of Goldwater's followers.

There then would arise, he said, "the delicate question of whether there is to be a compromise candidate." If there is one, he thought it would be former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Demos Needle Gov. Scranton

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton's presidential ambitions were lampooned by Pennsylvania's leading Democrats this week at a reorganization meeting of the party's state committee.

"Now I know what a sincere and honest draft is," chuckled former Gov. David L. Lawrence, Scranton's predecessor.

He referred to Scranton's repeated denial that he would campaign for the GOP nomination and would respond only to a "sincere and honest draft."

"He said his staff was under strict orders not to engage in political activity in his behalf. If I was in the governor's office and my staff had so consistently ignored my orders to this effect, I would have fired every damn one of them."

Former Gov. George M. Leader, Lawrence's predecessor, said he could not determine what Scranton "wants to be drafted for—president, vice president or just a good publicity campaign."

Shriners Mark 20 Years

BUCK HILL FALLS — Pocono Shrine Club celebrated its 20th anniversary Saturday night at Buck Hill Falls.

Edgar W. Van Why, president of the local club, acted as master of ceremonies. He delivered the welcome address and introduced the principal speaker, illustrious Potentate Hopkin T. Rowlands of Irem Temple, Wilkes-Barre.

Rowlands congratulated the local club for its work and continued interest in area affairs. He thanked the club for its work in projects conducted by the temple.

After the dinner, officers of the club and the Divan of the Temple were introduced. They are, in addition to Van Why, Elmer M. Rinehart, vice president; Ralph W. Barnes, secretary; Frank Stratton, honorary secretary; and John B. Dunkelberger, treasurer.

Members of the Divan, in addition to Rowlands, are Harry J. Sandrock, chief rabbi; Max Speisman, assistant rabbi; H.

Merrith Hughes, high priest and prophet; David M. Pierce, recorder; and the Rev. Dr. Jules Ayers, chaplain.

After the introductions Music Men of Irem Temple and the Dixieland Band from the Temple played music for dancing.

Antlerless Deer Licenses

The Pennsylvania Game Commission has heard the howls of angry deer hunters in Monroe County and other popular deer hunting counties of the state and has voted to issue another 70,000 antlerless deer licenses this year.

The effect of this increase in antlerless deer licenses on the number of licenses that will be available in Monroe County next year remains to be seen, but we hope it results in a substantial permanent increase.

When Monroe County Treasurer Warren F. (Mag) Loney was swamped by more than 6,000 applications for the 3,100 antlerless deer licenses allocated to this county last fall, he criticized the state game commission allocation and the lack of a uniform system for dispensing the licenses.

He complained that Pike and Wayne Counties, which received 4,600 and 5,500 antlerless deer licenses last year, were given to many in relation to Monroe County's allocation and demand.

He also complained that Monroe County was cut from 6,500 licenses six years ago down to 2,800 in 1962 and up to 3,100 in 1963. Monroe County hunters complained with him. Hunters all over the state complained with him.

Saturday the state game commission voted to increase the state total of antlerless deer licenses from 204,450 to 274,800. M. J. Golden, executive director of the commission, said an increase in the antlerless deer herd—mostly doe—justified a larger kill. That's the official reason.

We realize that there must be a control on the number of antlerless deer killed each year.

But we hope the increase in licenses allocated to Monroe County no matter what statewide fluctuations may occur in the deer herd.

A repeat of last year's antlerless deer license fiasco would be intolerable.

Comment Of The Day

"Now I know what a sincere and honest draft is."

Women Get Nods

WASHINGTON — If you will pardon a lapse into 1964 Republican campaign jargon, President Johnson has deflated an issue and washed it down the mainstream. He has appointed so many women to high offices that if Senator Barry Goldwater is elected there will hardly be any females but Cat Eye Annie and Blaise Starr left to appoint.

LBJ has named wives and daughters of labor leaders, publishers, industrialists, auto magnates, and merchant princes. It is getting so that women outside of Government are a minority group.

The Johnson propensity for elevating women has stripped any GOP adversary of a lively issue. A Republican who started talking about equal rights for women would run into a female storm of protest. To be made the equal of men, thousands of governmental ladies would have to be demoted.

This dame-naming has made LBJ the darling of women from coast to coast. Housewives do on him, he's gotten so many out of the house. To alienate this affection, Senator Goldwater would have to reverse the present man-in-the-house rule, and strip from the relief rolls any man with a woman in the house.

The difficulty a Republican Chief Executive would encounter in finding women to appoint is revealed in a sinister statistic just released by the Census Bureau.

Sales of men's play shoes are up 5 percent over 1963. Sales of women's work shoes are up only 1 percent.

This can only mean that the women named by President Johnson are given such good jobs they don't wear work shoes to work, while the men who once held these jobs now are left in their playpens until the female breadwinners return from their offices.

LBJ has so exhausted the domestic market in his female-foraging that a successful GOP rival may have to import. Christine Keeler is out of jail now, and looking for a portfolio commensurate with her skills. She might be considered as liaison officer to the House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Desperate over the dearth of appointable females, a Republican President might draft Elizabeth Taylor as Commissioner of Fish and Wildlife. But, in the immortal words of Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, it would have to be a genuine draft.

About Town

—By Gene Brown

From A Technical Magazine:

One of the reasons we sometimes back away from the word "research" is the jargon that research people use. It's like the story of the plumber who wrote to a government agency, and said that he had found that hydrochloric acid quickly opened drain pipes. And he asked if this was all right to use. A scientist at the agency replied that "the efficacy of hydrochloric acid is indisputable, out the corrosive residue is incompatible with metallic permanence."

The plumber wrote back, thanking him for assurance that hydrochloric acid was all right. Disturbed by this turn of affairs, the scientist showed the letter to his boss — another scientist — who then wrote to the plumber saying "we cannot assume responsibility for the production of toxic and noxious residue with hydrochloric acid and suggest you use an alternative procedure."

The plumber wrote back that he agreed that hydrochloric acid worked fine. Greatly disturbed by this misunderstanding, the scientist took their problem to the top boss. He cut out the research jargon and wrote to the plumber, "Don't use hydrochloric acid. It eats hell out of the pipes."

Strange Characters

There is increased respect for the actors on TV westerns since my own operation. These TV people get shot through the liver and pancreas; stabbed over the heart and through the aorta; they stumble through dynamite and cave-ins and undergo excruciating accidents but in a few days they are up and around with just a little limp. Their recuperative strength surpasses mine.

Timely

Question: "What is the best time to visit the World's Fair?"

Answer: "Between 21 and 45."

'Pickel Barrel'

The Pennsylvania Story

Rosy State GOP

HARRISBURG — In Pennsylvania at the moment, Republicans are a happy brood; Democrats unhappy and upset.

There is excellent reason for both.

Insofar as Keystone State Republicans are concerned, they are looking at the Scranton presidential trek as one of the best boons in their direction that could possibly happen.

Keystone State donkey riders on the other hand are staring down the same gun barrel—but they know that in their case the gun's loaded!

Defined in its simplest terms, for elephant riders, the Scranton entry into the GOP presidential race bodes well for them almost regardless of what happens ultimately at San Francisco next month.

Whether he emerges as the actual GOP presidential candidate or not, the whole picture looks rosy to Keystone State GOPsters. For if he doesn't gain the top spot, Mr. Scranton stands an excellent chance of gaining the vice-presidential nod—and with either post tucked under his arm, the "pull" on the Pennsylvania scene this fall unquestionably will be in the Republican direction regardless of how the presidential goes nationally.

Even though Pennsylvania's chief executive fails to gain either slot on the Republican ticket, he will have gained considerable recognition in the interim—plus he will be expected to campaign hard this fall in Pennsylvania for the ultimate ticket which in turn will be expected to bring considerable sunlight on Republican candidates for office throughout the state.

This then is what Pennsylvania Democrats are facing as matters stand at present; they don't like it but there's little they can do about it—now.

The question arises as to what will happen if President Johnson runs for another term, as expected, and wins another go at the White House?

With any candidate on the GOP ticket but a Pennsylvanian, Democrats feel confident they can carry Pennsylvania in the Democratic column this fall.

With Mr. Scranton on the ticket, most Democratic leaders privately concede that this would be most difficult at best, if not high impossible—LBJ or no LBJ.

On the other hand, if Governor Scranton does not pick up either the top or second spot on the Republican ticket, Democrats would feel a little better insofar as their chances of carrying the Keystone State are concerned—but with a heavy Scranton campaign in the fall even though not on the ticket, they are more prone to shudder than anything else!

What does all this mean in terms of what is at stake in Pennsylvania?

It could well mean, in a nutshell, the balance between control of the State Legislature by either Republicans or Democrats.

It could mean the difference between control of the two statewide fiscal offices of State Treasurer and State Auditor General by Republicans or Democrats.

It could mean either a Democratic or a Republican U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania.

It could mean a swing in either direction insofar as control of the 27-member Pennsylvania congressional bloc is concerned.

These are a few of the points as to why there is both consternation and joy over the Scranton presidential move of the past week!

Republicans have shot their ace in the hole in their determination to keep Pennsylvania in the Republican column.

The "war babies" of 1946 are now 18 years old. They are going to college; they are going to work; they are taking their place in the extremely intricate machine of our society.

There are a lot of them. Elementary and secondary schools have felt the brunt of their wave — now it's the colleges' turn.

Truly this group of people has a heritage that tends to make it different — it is a group apart, so to speak.

Spawned in the aftermath of a violent time of death and ruin, they have known only the gnawing fear of the cold war, interrupted by the temporary catharsis of the Korean War.

What Values

Which values have this group accepted?

Have the schools taught them how to cope with the world they inherited, or have they been served the code of the educators, who are a generation before them?

Perhaps this question may be asked of every generation. Seldom has it had more meaning. Never have the consequences of education meant more to humanity.

To adapt to a fast and haunted world not of their own making, the "war babies" will need a guide — but who can know which guide, except a member of that generation?

The problem of imparting a value system to this generation — as teachers, parents, and clerics did for earlier generations — is complicated by the pace of the world.

It is true that thinking is changing much faster today than 100 years ago; there was less difference between the value systems of a man of 1750 and a man of 1850, than there is between a man of 1925 and 1960.

But the technological and industrial and scientific revolutions have wrought such profound changes in our way of life that, today, almost every generation is radically different from the one that preceded it.

To be concrete: those of you who were born in the first quarter of this century view the cold war as a transient situation that has come upon us and will pass.

The war babies were born into the cold war and for 18 years have known nothing else — they accept it as a way of life; they are not as concerned with solving it as the older generation because the cold war has been a background for their development, not a new problem that must be unknotted immediately.

This "war baby" generation never knew the Second World

The Allen-Scott Report

WASHINGTON — Members of the special commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy are unsatisfied with the testimony of Mrs. Marina Oswald, and want her recalled for further questioning.

So far, no formal action has been taken on that, as the critics are heavily preoccupied with pressing congressional obligations, primarily the protracted Senate battle over civil rights. As a result, they have had little opportunity to personally question Mrs. Oswald.

But after reading the transcript of her second interrogation, these members are convinced the 22-year-old widow of the killer can still provide important information.

In her two appearances, she gave every indication of desiring to be cooperative and helpful. At the same time, her testimony has shed little light on certain vital aspects of her husband's life and activities on which the probes are still very much in the dark and which they are trying to piece together.

Two reasons are behind the private feeling Mrs. Oswald should be brought back for another round of close questioning:

(1) Despite six months of intensive investigating, in which scores of witnesses have been heard, and many thousands of pages of testimony and hundreds of documents and reports accumulated, the commission is still confronted with two key gaps — Oswald's connections and activities during the three years he lived in Russia as an avowed defector, and his subsequent operations and relations after returning to the U.S.

The latter includes, several months before the Dallas slaying, a still-mysterious trip to Mexico, participating in a pro-Castro demonstration in New Orleans, and getting a passport there, on the same day he applied for it, that would have enabled him to go back to Russia.

(2) These are seeming contradictions in Mrs. Oswald's testimony.

Significant Loose Ends — Graphically illustrative of the latter was last week's interrogation of the widow on two points.

For the first time, Mrs. Oswald stated she knew her husband had attended "meetings." In her previous testimony, she had asserted she had no knowledge of her husband's activities and associations. But this time she acknowledged being aware he had gone to "meetings."

"What kind of meetings?" "Political meetings," she replied.

Close questioning brought no further elucidation. Mrs. Oswald claimed she knew nothing about these meetings; their location or nature. She related that all she knew was that her husband had told her he had been at "meetings."

She also testified she was aware her husband possessed a rifle and a pistol, and that he was very bitter about the "capitalist system" in the U.S. because of its "injustices and hardships on the working people." She described her husband as feeling very strongly that the "capitalist system" had deprived him, his mother and her other children of opportunity to improve and advance themselves.

In revealing these highly significant facts, Mrs. Oswald, in answer to a question, insisted she had never heard her husband make threats against anyone.

"You say," she was asked, "that although you knew he had a rifle and a pistol, and was very bitter toward the U.S. and the capitalist system, you never heard him threaten to kill anyone?"

"No, he made no threats," replied Mrs. Oswald.

"Yet you have told us that your husband came home one night and told you he had tried to kill General Walker."

"Yes, he told me that."

"And you have testified he also told you he was going to kill Vice President Nixon."

"Yes, he told me that. But Mr. Nixon did not come to Dallas at that time."

"Did your husband ever express hatred of Governor John Connally?"

"No."

"Did your husband ever express hatred of General Walker?"

"No."

"But he did tell you he tried to shoot him."

"Yes."

"Did you ever hear your husband express hatred of President Kennedy, or threaten to kill him?"

"No, never."

"Yet you are convinced he did kill the President."

"Yes."

"You say that at no time did he express hatred toward any particular individual or official."

"No," said Mrs. Oswald. "He did not like the capitalist system. He was very bitter about it. He felt it had done great harm to him, his mother and family. But he never said anything against any person."

"But in view of what you have told us about his owning a rifle and pistol, his telling you about trying to shoot General Walker and wanting to kill Vice President Nixon, why do you say he made no threats against anyone? Aren't you contradicting yourself; isn't what you have told us directly conflicting?"

After a long pause, Mrs. Oswald admitted it might appear that way, but that was not her intention. She was positive her husband had made no threats against anyone.

My son and I both have allergies. We sneeze and have itchy eyes all year round. Is it safe to take an anti-allergy pill all year round?

Mr. W. B. Minnesota

Dear Mr. B.: Anti-allergy pills (antihistamines) are remarkably safe drugs. The drug is eliminated rather quickly in the urine.

May Cause Drowsiness

The one important and frequent side-effect is drowsiness. This side-effect differs among individuals. Some people may experience a distinct feeling of drowsiness, while others may not be affected to any noticeable degree.

The drowsy sensation may also vary from one product to another. The same person may become drowsy from one particular antihistamine, but not from another. Since there are so many similar products on the market, doctors may change the prescription until they find a product which provides maximum benefit with minimum side-effects.

Your individual medical problems should be handled by your own doctor. He knows you best.

Dear Abby

Economic Image

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please explain this one. My father is 52, a college graduate and has been in business for 27 years. We live in a $55,000 home in the suburbs. Since President Johnson started turning off the lights in the White House, my father has gone on an economy kick with our lights at home. When we leave the house all the lights are turned out, and when we come back it is so dark we can hardly see our way into the driveway. If one of us leaves a room for even five minutes, if we don't turn off the light we hear about it. We are allowed to burn a light only in the room where we are, and we have to go feeling our way around the house. I believe in being conservative — but this is ridiculous. What do you do?

IN DARKNESS

DEAR IN: Your father can't be in the insurance business or he would know that a house in total darkness is a burglar's dream. And a well-lit home is good accident insurance. Better to enlighten ONE father than to curse the darkness.

DEAR ABBY: Speaking of which in the bird kingdom is the more beautiful, the male or the female? In southwestern Canada you will find the PHALAROPE. The male is dull and rather colorless, but the female has beautiful, brilliant feathers and a white rump. The female does the courting, lays the eggs and then she departs to find herself another mate while the abandoned male is left sitting on the eggs.

C.R.M.

DEAR C.R.M.: I am familiar with the bird. We have a lot of them out here in Southern California.

DEAR ABBY: If you still have the name and address of that young girl who complained because her boyfriend fell asleep every chance he had, for heaven's sake, please tell her to drop him and forget him! I have been married for 33 years to a man who falls asleep the minute he sits down. He is not ashamed to fall asleep in church, at the theater or even while we are entertaining guests in our home. Every time I look at him he is asleep. We have been places where the liveliest party is going on, and I always have to wake him up to take me home. I have begged, pleaded, threatened to leave him and cried, but nothing works. I've tried to get him to see a doctor, but he says he likes himself the way he is and wouldn't take anything to keep him awake if he were offered it. It is like living with a dead man. Oh, what's the use? I should have left him years ago.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Doctor, I'd Like --To Know

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My son is six years old. He is healthy and plays actively, but he hardly eats a thing. How can I force him to eat?

Mrs. Y. C., Oregon

Dear Mrs. C.: The age-old complaint of loving and solicitous mothers is always the same, with only slight variations.

Doctors everywhere have seen roly-poly, overweight children, bursting out of their clothes, accompanied by mothers who insist "he eats like a bird!"

Not Cause For Concern

The appetites of healthy, normal, active children (as yours apparently is) should not be a constant source of concern.

Children eat enough to satisfy their own body needs, and not those of their parents.

A simple, nutritious, well-balanced diet — even in small quantities — supplemented by vitamins and minerals, is sufficient for healthy development.

Punishment Leaves Scars

Forcing children to overeat has physical and psychological disadvantages, and can often result in unfortunate aftermaths. Punishment for not "eating enough" leaves emotional scars that can not easily be removed by "dieting."

Children do need some direction about food. When soda pop and ice cream interfere with normal eating habits, then limits must be imposed to insure that the appetite is reserved for the right kind of foods. But the quantity he eats can best be determined by the wisdom of the body.

The fattened calf is not necessarily the healthy calf.

My son and I both have allergies. We sneeze and have itchy eyes all year round. Is it safe to take an anti-allergy pill all year round?

Mr. W. B. Minnesota

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Window

In constructing buildings man found that provisions had to be made for air and light. The Greeks did this by leaving large holes in the roofs of their buildings.

Later, other peoples constructed buildings with slits in the walls.

Since the slits were uncovered, the wind blew freely into the buildings. The resemblance of a slit to an "eye" in a building was noted. The Norsemen, therefore, called such slit a "windga" — wind's eye, from "wind" (wind) and "ga" (eye).

The Norse word became "windoge" in Old English, and emerged into modern English as "window."

County Planners Back Bensinger

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Planning Commission last night gave Atty. Charles R. Bensinger, president of the Water Resources Assn. of the Delaware River Basin, a unanimous vote of confidence.

Montgomery F. Crowe, a director of the WRA-DRB and a member of the planning commission, said before making the motion for a vote of confidence, "Mrs. Shukaitis was very wrong in attacking Chud Bensinger."

She criticized Bensinger at a House Subcommittee meeting in Washington last Tuesday for promoting the Tocks Island National Recreation Area as president of the association while profiting from development of Hidden Lake real estate lots within the proposed area by Western Heritage Properties Ltd. of which he is a director.

"Chud has worked very hard for Tocks Island Dam. He has attended many, many meetings since about 1938 in an effort to obtain Tocks Island Dam," Crowe said.

"He has served as president of DRB and through his work and efforts with that organization he has gained respect of men in very high positions in business."

"These men are directors of the WRA-DRB. Just to name a few, the president of New Jersey Power Co., a high official in Sun Oil Co., and another high official in the Gulf Oil Co."

"There are many more, and had Chud been involved in any dealings that even looked as if they might be 'shady' these men would not have insisted that he be president of WRA-DRB," Crowe concluded.

Budget Approval

In other business John Mills, chairman of the commission, told the meeting that the budget committee will meet with Monroe County commissioners Thursday at 11:30 a.m. to submit the commission's budget.

Crowe said he attended a meeting of the Highway Commission in Hazleton. He said, "The hearing was very well run, but I never saw a meeting like this that was so dominated by a cabinet member."

"Henry D. Harral, secretary of highways, asked all the questions and told the meeting what the state was going to do in its building."

Harral's Ideas

"It left me with the feeling that Harral favors any idea he discovered and was opposed to any idea submitted to him from other persons."

"He favors building a road from Williamsport to Maryland. This will be a skyline highway. When we talked about a skyline highway in the Pocomos he told us that there is one underway in Delaware Water Gap and that we didn't need another one."

Vance Megargel said he and several other members of the commission made a tour of several real estate development areas in the county and that conditions varied.

"Developments visited were Brushy Mountain, well planned development; Monroe Lake-shore, conditions are very poor — roads and lots not too well planned; Castle Rock, not bad; Mountain Top Estates, there are some very nice homes here; Timothy Lake, not too much work done yet, but there is a very nice lake there; Hidden Lake, very nice; Frank Young's development by the river (Delaware River), nice; and Van D. Vetter's development, planned very well," Megargel said.

Registration Misuse Charged

STROUDSBURG — Vernon S. Kibler, 20, of Snow Hill, East Stroudsburg, RD 2, was charged with misuse of vehicle registration by Stroudsburg police as the result of a two-car accident at 224 Main St., Stroudsburg Monday at 4:45 p.m.

Dr. Frank E. Halstead, 45, of 1185 Appenzeller Ave., Stroudsburg was traveling behind the Kibler vehicle when the collision occurred, police said.

According to police some people had yelled to Kibler and he slowed the car down. Dr. Halstead attempted to swing out away from the rear of Kibler's car and children playing to the left prevented him from pulling out far enough to miss the Kibler car.

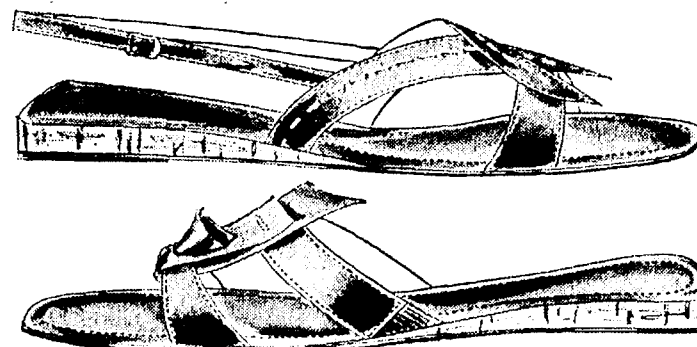

There were no injuries reported, police said.

Laurel Princesses End 6-Day Reign

SCOTRUN — The 1964 Laurel Blossom Princesses left for their homes in eight states yesterday after a farewell luncheon at Brookdale-on-the-Lake, taking with them memories and souvenirs of their six-day reign in the Pocomos.

There will be a 1965 Laurel Blossom Festival, according to both Walter Fossa, president of this year's hosts, the Top of the Pocomos Assn., and LeRoy Dengler, honorary chairman of this year's festival and one of the prime movers of the original festival.

However, it will be a festival without Sally Ferrebee who has been its director for the five years since it was revived as a major resort promotion in the Pocomos.

Mrs. Ferrebee made a surprise announcement of her resignation at the luncheon yesterday.

Her daughter will be graduating from high school next June, she explained, and with the Laurel Festival at the same time her personal responsibility is at home instead of with "23 adopted daughters."

John Crandall of Pocono Manor, chairman of this year's festival, will also be missing next year. He leaves June 28 for his new post in the Bahamas, so the farewells at the farewell luncheon came thick and fast.

For the festival queen, Sue Hertzler of Hood College, and the 22 princesses, including host princess Deanna Walker of East Stroudsburg State College, there were gifts of charm bracelets, including momentos of the Laurel Festival and charms representing their personal hobbies and ambitions, gifts of the Top of the Pocomos Assn., and copies of The Daily Record during their visit, presented by Reese Dengler, who served on the festival committee.

Crandall, LeRoy Dengler, and Fossa also got gifts from Mrs. Ferrebee.

Just Between Us —

It doesn't seem strange to me that within three days we should have gone through mid-summer, March, April and ended up in the winter months in sort of a scrambled order. I think maybe I've lived through a mighty scrambled year during that same time.

There was the opening night at the Cherry Lane Playhouse and a reunion with people I haven't seen for a year including the newspaper gals from Scranton, and all the folks from Hunter's Farm out in force.

In the fog and the rain, I got thoroughly lost getting there, and was determined to follow somebody else to the party which followed. But the car I was following stopped and I found myself heading a procession of about ten cars, all the while feeling that we'd probably all end up in Bear Swamp, and then what would we do?

However, we made it to the Tannersville Inn, and I made it home in time to help pack the parents of the bridegroom off for Chicago, although in the dawn hours before they left we discovered that the wind was blowing the float down river, and Joe had to swim out and drag it in.

There was no wind in the laurel decked dining room at Brookdale on the Lake for the farewell luncheon for the laurel princesses which turned out to be a farewell for John Crandall as chairman and Sally Verbeke as festival director.

For a while, it was touch and go whether or not we'd all drown in a flood of tears, since Princesses cry easily, especially when Sally quoted Stevenson's "and other little children shall bring my boats to shore", but we made it. Actually, I'd been so apprehensive that Sally's "news" was going to be that they were moving to California or something really drastic, that I was relieved it was only the Festival she was leaving.

And the Crandalls have to come back for dentist appointments — and grandchildren's birthdays and stuff. And I'll bet the princesses will be back on their own. Anyway, if three days can encompass a year, a year may well pass in three days.

Nine Children Honor Aces On Their Golden Wedding

Stroudsburg — Mr. and Mrs. J. Archie Ace of Stroudsburg RD 2, were married 50 years ago today, but their golden wedding anniversary was celebrated on Sunday with an open house at their home and garden with 150 persons bringing congratulations.

In addition to the golden weather, all nine of their children were present for the golden anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shook of Bartonville, her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Simon T. Ace of Swiftwater. They were married by the late Rev. C. W. T. Strausser, who had also baptized and confirmed Mrs. Ace. They have lived in Monroe County all their lives except for six years when they lived in Lehigh. Mr. Ace was employed at Bethlehem Steel until his retirement five years ago.

Lucky Dove
The open house was held on his 70th birthday. Their anniversary cake, a three-layer cake, was decorated with golden wedding bells, and also with a small gold horseshoe and a dove which had decorated Mr. Ace's golden anniversary cake when Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ace celebrated 36 years ago.

For her golden wedding, Mrs. Shook wore a slate blue dress of ribbon lace with a corsage of red roses from her husband of 50 years. There was a gift centerpiece of yellow roses flanked by white candles, and a gold-sprayed money tree set in moss and pinwheel with bills from their children.

There were guests from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Connecticut, all with tributes for the guests of honor.

No Arguments
"I can truthfully say that I have never heard them argue," said one of their children, "and they are both so jolly."

Friends paid tribute too — "Wherever she can help, there you'll find Anna Ace," said one. Mrs. Ace is noted for her garden, and Mr. Ace also loves the out of doors and loves to read so they are both busy.

In addition to their nine children, they have 22 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

Their children are Mrs. Alvin Transue of Tannersville; Mrs. Richard Smith of Southington, Conn.; Mrs. Marion Kirkhoff of Stroudsburg RD 2; William R. Ace of Fritz Ave., Stroudsburg; Mrs. William J. Werkheiser of East Stroudsburg RD 3; Robert L. Ace, East Stroudsburg RD 3; James L. Ace, Howard St. Stroudsburg; Mrs. Dewey Meckes, Stroudsburg RD 5, and Mrs. Richard Focke, Stroudsburg RD 2.

Fingertips 4-H Starts Work Today
Stroudsburg — Claudia Givner was elected president of the Fingertips, a 4-H Club, at the first meeting held at the home of Mrs. Chester Miller. Other officers are Carol Miller, vice president; Vicki Bolcar, secretary-treasurer; Stephanie Ferenc, news reporter; Jody Miller, song leader; Debra Trenholm and Kathy Martin, game leaders.

They will work on the project "Start Stitching" and because they will work with their hands they adopted the name Fingertips. Miss Pauline Frick of the home extension service will be their advisor. The group will meet this morning at 10 a.m. at the Miller home with the equipment they need to start making a skirt.

Miss Donna Parsons Bride Of Ensign H. F. Schultz

Saylorsburg — Miss Donna L. Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Parsons, of 39 N. Fourth St., Bangor, was married Saturday morning to Ensign Henry F. Schultz, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore F. Schultz, Saylorsburg, RD.

Rev. Robert Galligan performed the ceremony in Our Lady Queen of Peace Church, Broadheadsville.

Edmund Kozlowski was organist and Freeman Bethman was soloist.

Mr. Parsons gave his daughter in marriage. She was dressed in a Chantilly lace and silk organza chapel-length gown trimmed in pearls and sequins on bodice. Her bouffant veil was held by a crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Miss Diane Peilly served as maid of honor. She wore a white summer gown with gold accessories and carried a shower bouquet of gold carnations and ivy.

Misses Jennie Zito, Roselo; Nancy Schultz, Saylorsburg; Patty Drabant, Easton, and Marilee Pritchard, Wind Gap, served as bridesmaids. They wore white summer gown with navy blue accessories and carried navy blue carnations with ivy.

Miss Linda Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eckert, of Lynchburg, Va., was flower girl. She was dressed in a white nylon gown with gold accessories and carried a miniature shower bouquet of gold carnations and ivy.

Thomas Schultz, of Allentown, was best man. Ushers were James Parsons, Bangor; Robert Steidinger, Bethlehem; Morris Fenner, Wind Gap, and Ralph Manento, West Bangor.

After a reception at the Elks Auditorium, Ensign and Mrs. Schultz left on a wedding trip. The bride was graduated from Broughal School of Practical Nursing, Bethlehem, after graduating from Bangor High School. She was on the nursing staff at Easton Hospital.

Ensign Schultz was graduated from the United States Naval Academy, June 3, 1964, and will go into flight training school at Pensacola, Fla. An alumnus of Pius X High School, he attended Villanova University before en-

YW Women Guests At Rug Home

Swiftwater — Members of the newly organized YMCA Women's Service Group were the guests of Mrs. Arthur Rug, Swiftwater, at an afternoon tea.

Mrs. Rug shared her collection of "treasures" from China and from Jerusalem, and the paintings she has done.

Formosa tea, mulled orange juice and homemade cookies were served with Mrs. Rug assisted in serving by Mrs. Pierce Harley and Mrs. Marion Hoffman. About 25 women were present.

Patio Party Is Held After Graduation

Delaware Water Gap — After the Stroud Union High School graduation exercises Friday night, Miss Jennifer Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richards, who was one of the graduates, was feasted by a patio party at her parents' home on Cherry Valley Street. Lanterns and balloons decorated the outdoor space where the young people danced to the music of records.

Guests were the Misses Cynthia Kintaro, Joan Walsh, Mary Shafer, Jerri Johnson, Judy Goode, Theresa Keller, Barbara Kimball, Nancy Illiardi, all of Stroudsburg, Kathy Kleber of Pittsburgh, Carol Rohaley, Yohet Geshensky, Faith Lightner, Nancy Richards of Water Gap, also Messers Neal Rileman, Peter De Santis, John Rushin, Howard Denker, Joel Keller, Richard Henton all of Stroudsburg; Grant Terrill, Wm. Roth of East Stroudsburg; David Davis, John Siptrich of Delaware Water Gap.

Two large cakes and other refreshments were served. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richards, Sr. and also Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richards, Jr. of East Stroudsburg.

Cookout For Press Aux.

East Stroudsburg — A cookout supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slutter marked the meeting of the Ladies Aux. No. 21 to the Int. Printing Pressman and Assistant's Union.

They set the date of July 19 at 1:30 at Padesee Beach above Shawnee for the annual picnic with Saturday, July 25, as the rain date.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ann Schaller and Mrs. Evelyn Slutter.

May Cramer, Mrs. Russell Miller, Mrs. Metzgar, Miss Florence Bates, Mrs. Stanley Hallett, Mrs. Herman Pensyl, Mrs. Herbert Cramer, Mrs. Melvin LaBar, and Mrs. Chauncey Dailey Jr.

Miss Gower Engaged To W. K. Brodt

Effort — Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Gower of Effort announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Carol, to Warren Kenneth Brodt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth I. Brodt of Bangor.

Miss Gower will graduate from East Stroudsburg State College in 1965 and will enter the teaching profession.

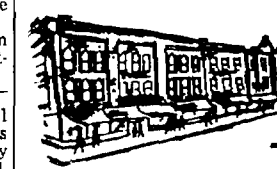

Her fiancé graduated with honors from East Stroudsburg State College in May. He is employed by the Haverford Twp. School District as a mathematics teacher.

School Classes Visit Animals

Delaware Water Gap — The four grades of the Delaware Water Gap School were taken to the Wild Animal Farm by their teachers, Mrs. A. Peckhalka and Mrs. Lillian Marshall as a class in natural science.

The Parent Teachers Assn. joined the classes for a picnic lunch, and financed a ride on the firetruck, ice cream, sodas and balloons and milk and food for the children to feed the animals. There were 35 pupils and 15 PTA members on the outing.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

If you are going to work for a department store, it helps if you are a rubber band—or at least have the resilience of rubber in your makeup. Never have we had a busier, madder, more fantastic June than we are breezing through right now, what with Flower Days, Whizzer Days, Monday Money Saver Days, and a series of fashion shows to be climaxed by our supreme, deluxe, all-out-effort on Wednesday evening, June 24th, at Unity House. After that date, I'm going to feel like crawling into Hartman's Cave and sleeping for a month. But what do you bet I'll not be able to? Because, being Wyckoff's, we're headed into an equally hectic July!

One of the calmest, nicest, most relaxing things that could possibly have happened this month was the dinner given for girls of our assorted Wyckoff offices at Sterling Inn, last week by "Papa" and Mrs. Wyckoff. Sterling Inn is a delightful resort... quiet, dignified, and beautiful, set amid velvety lawns prettily landscaped, with a tranquil duck pond near which one may sit and dream.

Inside, one is greeted by a fire blazing in the fireplace on a cool evening. And one is cheered by the many marvelous colors that are combined in the decor: rich blues, bright corals, restful avocado greens—colors that are soothing and happy. The food is beyond description, whether you choose baked breast of chicken or rare roastbeef, strawberry pie or floating island pudding. The bread is homemade and warm... the rolls are light as a feather and fresh from the oven. Calories are there... but who cares? Ambrosia may be fattening, but its for the gods, and guests at Sterling Inn are made to feel that they are indeed very special.

I was flattered exceedingly by Arnbergs and Mrs. Arnbergs' mother, Mrs. Julian when they recognized me from the daily Wyckoff Shopper radio program. As Betty Bartholomew commented when Mr. Arnberg responded to Mr. Wyckoff's cry of, "Just see all the women I brought you," with "Such pretty ones too!" "We are all going to like it here—flattery will get you EVERYWHERE."

While much money as well as much though has very obviously gone into the selecting of all the furnishings and accessories that make Sterling Inn such an attractive place, Mrs. Arnberg has proven, I think, that color and good taste are magic ingredients any woman can utilize, even though her personal budget may be limited.

I am sure the glassware on the table, in a lovely shade of avocado green, would not shatter the average purse, but certainly it added the perfect note of charm to a summer dinner. We have glassware in that very shade in Mary Hitesman's department here at Wyckoff's. Brass plaques on the wall were another bright note... and these need not be terribly expensive. We have them at Wyckoff's in a quite moderate price range. In the bedrooms, we noted bright floral bedspreads—some with blues predominating; some in light orange, yellows and browns were combined... and the dominant color was picked up in other accessories, to make the rooms restful and harmonious.

The ideas used by the hotel management so advantageously, are ideas that might be adapted by anyone to "anywhere." It's necessary only to have a plan and follow it... but the impact is terrific, and the memory lingers long.

Local Gourmet Club Adds Fish Course To Repertoire; Catch New Member

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist
Stroudsburg — According to Webster, a gourmet is "a man of keen palate, a connoisseur in wines and meats; a nice feeder; an epicure", and an epicure is "one who indulges in the luxuries of the table".

I can assure you that the newly formed Gourmet Club of the Pocono Art Center fits each of these definitions, for I was their guest at their June meeting last Wednesday at the lovely home of Dr. and Mrs. Leitner on Green Street in East Stroudsburg. And, as Dr. Leitner, the President, said, this is no baked beans and potato salad club, for this is luxury food, both the eating and serving — truly an adventure in good eating.

At the business meeting held in the garden, even the minutes read by the secretary-treasurer, Dr. Francis Donatelli, made the members sigh as he read the menu of their last meeting.

This is a working club; if you like to eat, you must also enjoy cooking, for each month four members prepare the food that is to be sampled by the club. Each meeting is a course of a banquet meal, and at their first three meetings they have prepared hors d'oeuvres, soups, and fish respectively. When they begin again in September they will have a Seafood meeting, to be followed by Meats, Game, Salads, and Desserts. Then they may decide to prepare a full course banquet with their favorite recipes of each meeting.

Gourmets do not use substitutes. For example, at last Wednesday's meeting, Caroline LeBar's responsibility was Salmon Mousse. Most of us would use a can of salmon, but not a gourmet! She first made the stock from the salmon bones, then poached the fish in the stock, and stewed a chicken for the broth before adding the rich sauce made with cream.

Dr. Leitner had to boil fish heads to make Quenelles de Brochet with Sauce Nantua, a pike fish dumpling which is a standard popular fish course in France. Dr. Mary Hunsicker used a whole bottle of wine, 8 egg yolks, 2 pounds of sweet butter, three pounds of mushrooms, plus Dijon mustard and shallots to make a fabulous dish, Filet de Sole Gratinée a la Gasconne!

The Leitner's front porch was transformed into a lovely dining area with a buffet table and five card tables decorated so beautifully that we felt as if we were in the most exclusive restaurant. Add to this a warm June night, magnificent food, accompanying wine, stimulating company, and you can see why I was so impressed that I joined the club!

Because it is meeting in homes, physical facilities limit the number of members to twenty and the Gourmet Club cannot take any additional new members, but they would be more than happy to help organize another club, if there were twelve or fifteen gourmets interested.

They are learning as they go along. They've decided that it's best that the host or hostess should not have to cook any food, for there is a lot of work preparing for twenty guests. And it was mentioned that it can be a strain on any marriage to put a husband and wife on the same food committee.

Mrs. Leitner's assignment was Stuffed Bass, but her husband did not think she should use the recipe she has in the past. So she called the editor of Gourmet Magazine in New York and asked if they would be able to furnish her with a recipe, and they were kind enough to send several. She chose the following one, and I am sure that if you read it, you will have a better idea of the gourmet food that is prepared and eaten by the club.

Stuffed Striped Bass with Shrimp Wine Sauce
1 four to five pound striped bass, dressed for baking
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
Shrimp stuffing (see below)
1 carrot, sliced
1 cup sliced celery
1 small onion, minced
1½ cups dry white wine
1 bay leaf

2 tablespoons butter, melted
Shrimp wine sauce (see below)
1. Preheat oven to hot (400 degrees F.)

2. Sprinkle the inside of the fish with salt and pepper and stuff loosely with shrimp stuffing. Close with skewers and lace with string.

3. Line an open roasting pan with foil. On it make a bed of the carrot, celery and onion. Add the wine and bay leaf and place the fish on the vegetables. Bake, uncovered, until the fish flakes easily when tested with a fork, forty-five to fifty minutes. Baste frequently during baking with any remaining butter and with the liquid in the pan.

4. Place the fish on a hot platter and serve with shrimp wine sauce.

Shrimp Stuffing
1½ pounds shrimp
¼ cup butter
1 small onion, minced
½ cup minced celery
½ cup chopped parsley
2 tablespoons dry white wine
1½ cups soft bread crumbs or cubes

Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

1. Shell and devein the raw shrimp. Coarsely chop enough to yield one half cup and reserve for the sauce. Chop the remaining shrimp in small pieces.

2. In a skillet heat the butter, add the onion and celery and cook until the onion is transparent. Add the shrimp pieces and cook until they are pink.

Add the parsley and cook until wilted.
3. Remove the pan from the heat, add the wine, mix, and add the bread crumbs. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Shrimp Wine Sauce
Dry white wine
2 teaspoons flour
½ cup chopped raw shrimp, reserved before they take their sample. After everyone is through eating, the member who cooked the food explains the preparation. It is their plan to have the recipes mimeographed so that each member has a copy.

At the meeting, each food is served as a separate course. The members gather around the table to see it garnished decoratively before they take their sample. After everyone is through eating, the member who cooked the food explains the preparation. It is their plan to have the recipes mimeographed so that each member has a copy.

To finish off a delightful evening, the porch lights were turned out and a tray of champagne glasses filled with lemon sherbet were brought to the buffet table. The sherbet was Italian water ice, topped with sugar cube which was ignited and the flaming dessert made everyone sigh. Espresso coffee was served in demitasse cups, the perfect finale to a meeting of gourmets.

In the words of the president, the meetings adjourn with a bellyache, but, ah, 'tis worth it!

Girl Scout Court of Awards Emphasizes Service Skills

Barrett — The Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 346 and 372 of Barrett Township under the leadership of Mrs. Dolly Price, held its Court of Awards ceremony recently at the Barrett Elementary Center.

The program opened with a flag ceremony with Linda Gibbons and Terry Lynn Price as Color Bearer and Jeanne Gibbons and Cindy Serfass acting as Color Guards. Scouts-in-Charge were Gloria Storm and Jayne and Pam Transue.

Mrs. Price emphasized that a badge is not a reward for something you have done once or for an examination you have passed. Badges are not medals to wear on your sleeve or to show what a smart girl you are. A badge is a symbol that you have done the thing it stands for often enough, thoroughly enough, and well enough to be prepared to give service in it.

Some of the badges received were as follows: The Sign of the Arrow, Drawing and Painting, Gypsy, My Home, Pets, Troop Camper, Home Health and Safety, Skater, Cyclist, Needlecraft, Water Fun, Housekeeper, Collector, Books, Pen Pal, Dabbler, Observer, Toy Maker and My Community.

Recognition was given to Mrs. Jennie Shoemith, Mrs. Faye Shoemith, Mrs. Rachel Lindsey, Mrs. Lola Storm and D. Beehler for their assistance.

Mrs. Storm, cookie chairman, reported that this troop sold over 1500 boxes of Girl Scout Cookies. Elizabeth Brink, Mildred Bush, Jayne Transue and Patty Guida were cited for perfect attendance to every Troop meeting during the past year.

There were 42 Scouts present. As each girl received her service pin she was given a candle to light from a larger one.

Sixteen girls who crossed the "Girl Scout Bridge" to become Cadettes will be without a leader in September unless somebody volunteers. It is in the Barrett area.

"True!", he agreed, "the temptation to enjoy fresh whole milk blended with fine chocolate syrup is just too big to overcome. But, in the future, young man, ask your Mom before having a glass of your favorite refreshment. I'm sure she'll consent because Lehigh Valley Chocolate Milk is as nutritious as it is delicious."

Barrett Library Adds Art To Its Store Of New Books

Mountainhome—Barrett Friendly Library will become the site of an impromptu art display during the Summer months as local artists show their paintings in the cobblestone building on Route 191, Mountainhome.

Summer hours are 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Tuesday through Friday with night openings each Wednesday, 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. and Saturdays 10 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Art displays will include a full range of subjects, still life, landscapes and scenic subjects. Changes will be made with participating artists being contacted by those interested in purchasing pictures which may be sold.

A shelf of books including best sellers and newest books has been set aside and lists the top books currently being marketed. "Seven Days in May" and "What Time the Next Swan" are among selections which may be borrowed for one week.

A book order of more than $500 was made by Mrs. John Roberts, librarian, under appointment by the library board. Included on the order are fiction and non-fiction works. Mysteries and children's books are also on order.

Further filling the shelves are 200 adult books and 200 children's subjects on loan from

WE HAVE EMPTY SPACES ALL OVER THE STORE

Yes, there are empty spaces all over A. C. Miller Furniture, because of the large amount of furniture being sold during our big Classified Sale. The clearance ends this Saturday because we don't want to run out of merchandise completely. The only thing we'd be able to do then would be to go on vacation. But we'd rather work, work, work.

(The heat's been getting to us lately.)

Between now and Saturday, though, there are still a few items we'd like to see disappear, so we have more empty space for new merchandise. Help us create more space and we'll help you to savings.

SALE ENDS THIS SATURDAY

Old Fashioned, Homely, But Sturdy WOODEN PORCH ROCKERS $12

Take them home yourself and the price will be just $10.

POLE LAMP $5.88

This lamp is really in style. The pole is black and brass. The shades are in the newest House and Gardens colors — white, aqua and persimmon. We're going to sell these lamps and the next time the magazine recommends a set of coordinate colors like this, we're going to ignore them.

Reg. $39 36" BASE CABINET $25

We were told this was supposed to be a good quality steel cabinet. We won't tell you this but we will tell you the one we have left with a white Formica top is certainly a good buy at its special sale price.

Reg. $399 2 pc. FRENCH PROVINCIAL LIVING ROOM $295

Exquisitely styled. Back is hand tufted though 4 inches of foam. Trimmed all around with Fruitwood. Extra heavy nylon material cover in green.

Reg. 36.90 CRIB AND MATTRESS $26

Full size crib by Thayer. Inner-spring wet-proof crib mattress and spring. Big value. Small price. Every other crib in stock also reduced during Miller's Big Classified Clearance. Crib mattresses as low as $5.88. Strollers from $4.88.

FOLDING COT $11.88

Aluminum frame, 2 inch foam mattress. Fine for light sleepers because if you sleep too heavily on it, it may not hold up too well. These sell for several dollars more elsewhere, but we have some inner-spring steel framed rollaway beds for sale at higher prices so these aluminum foam mattresses are just $11.88.

Reg. $219 3 pc. MAPLE BEDROOM $158

That's right — solid hard rock maple bed, chest and dresser with plate glass mirror. Not maple finish or maple tops, but completely made of solid Northern maple. Ordinarily you couldn't buy a bedroom like this anywhere near this low price. But this style has been discontinued and we have a new suite to replace this one.

Reg. $7.95 to 12.95 LAMPS $4.88

We're taking our lamps on all kinds of table, floor and pole lamps. On this group the business are pretty big.

Reg. $1.69 to $4. SANDRAN $1.19

Heavyweight, easy cleaning Sandran. This is the original vinyl surface felt base material at a special price. 4 discontinued patterns only. 12 foot and 9 foot widths.

Reg. $299 2 pc. COLONIAL LIVING ROOM $209

Ordinarily we don't put a brand new living room suite into a clearance. This 2 piece pillow back colonial suite has only been here 10 days. It's in a heavy nylon tweed cover, has solid foam rubber cushions and weight leveling coil base. It's a good wearing suite in a popular cover. But this color (honey gold) looks awful drab to us. Come in, look at it and reassure us that the color isn't so bad. Do it anyway even if you're not in the market for a suite. It'll make us feel better anyway.

Reg. $84 12 x 8'9" WILTON RUG $58

This is the last piece from a roll of all wool Wilton in light tan. It's almost, but not quite a 9 x 12. We've cut the price to less than $5—a square yard and we'll bind this last remnant for you free of charge.

Reg. $89 Stratorester RECLINER $69

Just one of over 150 chairs now on sale at A. C. Miller. Every inch of this famous Stratorester is made with an extra measure of quality. Other recliners from $48 to $152.

DEAR MR. PARTNER:
Scathing attacks by small businessmen against giant competitors are poison. Right or wrong, by attacking your larger adversary, you will promote him and provoke confusion in your own product market. Big men are like tide, with winners, and automatically figure giants won't be losers. Let's face it: Many large firms start out by being unethical. When the going gets tough on any particular front, they revert to type. Few besides their competitors are the wiser. Yet, many Davids stay in the ring with Goliaths.

WASHINGTON — The Polish United Workers (Communist) Party met for its first Congress in five years on Monday (June 15).

Poland shares with Hungary the medium-sized distinction of maintaining the greatest independence of Soviet Russia within in the so-called satellite bloc. And as independence is the invariable nursery for variety, Poland is perhaps the least monolithic state within the bloc. That means that there will be considerable political activity at the Congress of the Polish United Workers (Communist) Party in mid-June.

This is not to say that the Congress will have any resemblance to a deliberative body as the West knows such institutions. It is in the first place just too unwieldy for democratic procedures. Some 1500 delegates will gather in Warsaw, one for each 100 party members. They will elect a new central committee. Then the central committee will elect a new Politburo to rule the country for four years.

Actually, the maneuvering among left, center, and right wings of the party preceded the Congress by months. Wladyslaw Gomułka, first secretary of the party, who rose to power on the 1956 "revolution," is expected to maintain command of the party and hence of the government, but his path is rocky.

Poland's Police and Security forces are firmly controlled by the Stalinist Partisans led by Gen. Mieczyslaw Moczar, Deputy Minister of the Interior. They lean toward the Red Chinese, are intensely nationalist, and tend to be anti-Semitic. The attitude is hardly unusual in the nation which harbored Oswiecim (Auschwitz).

The liberals are led by Ramon Zambrowski, who was removed from the Politburo last July. Poland's intellectuals, most of them liberals, enjoy a freedom which, however limited, is greater than the satellite norm. They resent censorship, but at least they can make their protests public. Nevertheless, the drift in politics appears to be toward the right.

Poland has historically been oriented toward the West. A knowledgeable American who recently traveled in the country reports: "Paris was the magnet for the Polish aristocracy in the 18th century, for its revolutionaries in the 19th, and for its intellectual emigres in the 20th. One wonders what the effects might be if, as rumored, General de Gaulle begins to unfold an active 'Eastern' policy, whose first tools surely would be cultural: the credit that France has built in Poland . . . is enormous."

March 21 to April 20 (Arles) — Take everything in proper order or you may be disturbed at late-day results. Some issues from which to withdraw, others to applaud. Judge carefully.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurun) — Strong indications of gains as a result of past efforts. A good period, too, for launching new enterprises. Study all suggestions carefully.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)
 Demonstrate your talents in the areas where they will do the most good. You will be severely criticized by stubborn opposition. Still, promote originality and diligence.
 June 22 to July 20 (Cancer)
 Do not overtax yourself mentally or physically. You will not be as progressive enough to accumulate the many gains that are attainable.
 July 21 to August 23 (Leo)
 Final results of previous actions will be made known. You will be planned, profit by the experience. Amend where you can.
 August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)
 To understand persons with whom you are involved, accept the other's point of view. Half of your battle won. Meetings and agreements should be conducted with care.
 September 24 to October 23 (Libra)
 The situation seems very favorable. Expectations will be amply met. Your aid can help you to reap a harvest most soon by appropriate application now.
 October 24 to November 21 (Scorpio)
 Neither routine nor original planned but overcoming difficulties. You will be able to use the step-by-step; weigh pros and cons.
 November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)
 You will be able to do for yourself. There is a tendency now to rush matters to completion, to neglect details. Be sure of preparation or understanding. Careful.
 December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)
 The situation. Be thoughtful of the platonic influences are fairly good. It will take more than energy and determination to overcome the matters in the firm. Optimism. APEX all facts are in.
 January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)
 You can achieve more than you think. You go about things in the firm. You will be able to do for yourself. There may be a hitch occasionally, but generally you can save things that are lost.
 February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)
 The situation. Be thoughtful of the platonic influences are fairly good. It will take more than energy and determination to overcome the matters in the firm. Optimism. APEX all facts are in.

Joe Christopher's Big League Life

Worrying: Biggest Problem In Majors

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—"People don't know what the average ball player goes through. They envy him the good living, the spotlight, the adulation. But they know nothing of the hardships, the pressure, the uncertainty, the fear that grips him constantly."

The speaker was Joe Christopher, a journeyman outfielder with the New York Mets who suddenly has sprouted to near full bloom in his 19th year of professional baseball.

The stocky native of St. Croix in the Virgin Islands, hitting at a .307 clip, leads the Mets in runs batted in with 25. He also has hit five home runs although he didn't start playing regularly until mid-May.

Robust Hitting
Christopher's robust hitting has surprised many, including the Mets' front office, which kept him on the roster this spring largely because they had run out of options on the 28-year-old player who had two previous trials each with the Pittsburgh Pirates and Mets.

It took an injury to George Altman, the regular right fielder, to give Christopher his latest chance.

"I am not a quitter," Christopher said. "Otherwise, I would have thrown in the towel long ago."

No Confidence
"I always knew I could hit, but nobody up here believed me. I always hit well in the minors but when I got to the majors, nobody had any confidence in me."

"The Mets acquired me in the expansion draft from Pittsburgh and sent me to Syracuse in 1962 without playing me in a single game."

Recalled a month later, Christopher saw limited action and when the 1963 season started he was back in the minors, this time, he was used sparingly.

"Live In Fear"
"They just wouldn't give me a chance to play regularly," said the 5-foot-10, 175-pounder, who speaks English like a college professor. "There was always that worry if I went 0 for 4, I'd be on the bench the next day. And I'd live in fear of cut-down time, wondering whether

I'd survive it or not.

"It got so that I began to wonder whether my confidence was misplaced. Maybe I wasn't as good a ball player as I believed."

"Many times I was on the verge of quitting. But my wife had faith in me. She was the only one. She urged me to keep trying. I'm glad now that I listened to her. I thank God I'm not a quitter."

Bobby Mitchell Says:

Hardest Pass To Catch Should Be The Easiest

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—"The hardest pass for me to catch is when I'm 10 yards behind everybody, and the ball is coming and I'm afraid I'll drop it."

Bobby Mitchell added, "You watch. A lot of people have that trouble. You have time to think about it, and players often drop that kind of pass."

The 190-pound speedster signed a new contract with the Washington Redskins Tuesday, a two-year, no-trade contract for an estimated $30,000 a year, which placed him about even in salary with Washington's new quarterback Sonny Jurgensen.

Highest Pay
At least until the Redskins sign linebacker Sam Huff, obtained in a trade from New York, Jurgensen and Mitchell are the highest paid members of the team.

Mitchell, a top running back with Cleveland before he was traded to Washington after the 1961 season, has been a big success in Washington, on and off the field.

On the field, he led the National Football League in pass receiving in 1962, was runner-up last fall and led in total yardage on passes.

Lucrative Job
Off the field, he has landed a lucrative job with a soft drink firm and says he plans to make Washington his permanent home. The no-trade clause was put in the contract at his request.

In his off-season activities, Mitchell said he has steadfastly turned down beer and cigarette commercials.

"I think it's paid off," he said. "I work a lot with kids. They respect me. When you have a guy like Bobby Kennedy calling you up and saying, 'I want you to do something,' that's paying off in a big way."

Mitchell frequently attends youth meetings with the attorney general, and was called in recently as a consultant for the Job Corps, a youth training program of the war on poverty.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A motorist parked at a two-hour meter in downtown Raleigh, dropped his dime in the slot and went about his business. Returning two hours later he found the meter gone, the curb painted yellow, a loading zone sign posted and a $5 parking ticket on his car's windshield. The motorist took the story to city hall. All was excused this time.

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Former Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek, deprived last week of his political rights and Senate seat by Brazil's new government, arrived by plane from Rio de Janeiro this weekend on a private visit. Kubitschek was one of 53 federal congressmen who lost their seats and political rights in the government's purge of Communists, leftists and alleged corrupt elements in the government. After spending several days here, he will fly to New York to deliver a series of lectures.

Merry Widow Opens Cherry Lane Season

By Charles McNett
Daily Record Reporter
TANNERSVILLE — Monday night's storm failed to damage the enthusiasm of the audience at the opening performance of the 1964 season of musicals at Cherry Lane Playhouse.

The ever-popular "Merry Widow" of Franz Lehár, which runs through Saturday, starred Alexandra Hunt as Sonia, the widow, and David Smith as Prince Danilo of Marsovia, the romantic lead. Both performed well.

Miss Hunt displayed a warm and lively voice in the role which she has played before in Omaha and New York City. Smith, leading baritone of the New York City Center Opera, showed both polish and presence of mind in a role which he has never before attempted.

Especially noteworthy was the performance of Walter (Dutch) Miller, who is well remembered for his role as the mute king in "Once upon a Mattress" at the playhouse last season.

Miller was perfectly cast as Popoff, the foolish Marsovian ambassador to France, and brought an almost Mack Sennel quality to the musical comedy.

"The Merry Widow" presents somewhat more of a plot than one expects of a musical, the action revolving around the efforts of the ambassador to achieve a marriage between Sonia, who has inherited the proceeds of loans made by her husband to half of Marsovia, and Danilo, the dissolute heir to the Marsovian throne, in order to protect the interests of the country.

Unknown to all, Danilo and Sonia had been in love when she was a poor Marsovian peasant, but were prevented from marrying by the arrogant king, Danilo's uncle, and had parted.

The plot thickens in the first act when it becomes apparent

AAA Backs Junk Auto Controls

POCONO MANOR — Allentown businessman F. Willard Harper was elected president of the AAA Pennsylvania Motor Federation Friday. He succeeds Samuel S. Scott of Pittsburgh who retired after serving two terms.

In other action at the final session, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation threw its support behind Pennsylvania's effort to control automobile graveyards.

A resolution, unanimously adopted, commended the legislature for creating a special committee to study the matter and offered their cooperation.

Also elected were vice presidents H. Clifford Kreisle of Lancaster; Hamlin D. Redfield of Bradford; Weldon D. Heyburn of Philadelphia; James L. Dunn of Uniontown; Clarence K. Pulling of Erie; Thomas H. Evans of Pittsburgh; and Judge Clarence E. Bode of Honesdale.

Harper is executive vice president and general manager of the Merritt Lumber Co. Inc. in Allentown, and an official of Merrill's Lumber Yard Inc. in Reading. He is currently serving his ninth consecutive term as president of the Lehigh Valley Motor Club in Allentown.

Also, he and three others were elected Friday to the three-day 58th annual meeting of the State Federation which represents 712,000 members.

Attending the session were 525 delegates and their wives.

2 Men Sent To Jail; 2 Released

STROUDSBURG — Two men were committed Monday and two were released Tuesday from Monroe County jail.

James F. McAndrews, 68, of Philadelphia, was committed to jail Tuesday for five days in default of $19 fine. He pleaded guilty to the charge of public intoxication at a hearing Tuesday before Floyd W. Kellogg, Stroudsburg Justice of the Peace. He was apprehended by Stroudsburg police.

Also committed to jail was William P. Bishop, 45, of 186 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg. He was committed for 15 days in default of $19 fine. He pleaded guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct at a hearing Monday night before Harold Larison, East Stroudsburg Justice of the Peace.

He was apprehended by East Stroudsburg police.

Robert L. DeWees, 51, of Waynesboro, was given a 30-day suspended sentence and released Tuesday on condition he remain out-of-town. He had been committed earlier Tuesday on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct.

DeWees pleaded guilty to the charge at a hearing Tuesday before Harold Larison, East Stroudsburg Justice of the Peace. He was apprehended at 37 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, by East Stroudsburg police.

Lefloy Swartwood, 20, of Easton, was released Tuesday after charges of fornication and bastardy had been withdrawn. The charges stem from a complaint by the mother of a Stroudsburg juvenile girl. He was being held in default of $500 bail.

Pocono Playhouse 'Fair Lady' Is Colorful, Irresistible

By Jeff Cox
Daily Record Reporter

MOUNTAIN HOME — "My Fair Lady" is like the common cold — no matter how hard you try to avoid it, it always catches up with you.

Like anything infectious, the Pocono Playhouse's production of the Lerner and Loewe London romp got me . . . in spite of myself.

A Good Cast
The fact is, the play is so good one has the feeling it could be performed by kangaroos and still be extraordinary.

The fact that the cast all turned in creditable performances was beside the basic point — the show is good.

Why shouldn't it be good? Lerner and Loewe brewed up a magic pot of stew that anyone would like.

There's a love story, there's a "rags to riches" story, there's the dramatic technique of personality switches as the play progresses (the two major characters both undergo profound changes), there's comedy, and the play is based on the George Bernard Shaw masterpiece, "Pygmalion."

Perhaps the criteria for enjoying the play is this: if you like good theater, you'll like it.

It's not arty, it's not pretentious, but it is crammed with songs that are by now old favorites, it is bright and colorful — it's good theater.

Super Stage Presence

The cast was as professional as could be — even the extras showed the foremost stage presence. One in particular deserves the Distinguished Service Cross.

A piece of scenery came crashing down inches behind his back while he stood with a haughty English stare. He merely blinked, kept the stare, and calmly pushed the scenery to the wings with one hand.

The acting kept burning brightly, with only occasional fizzes.

Dran Seltz, as Eliza Doolittle, did much to keep the show paced. And quite a voice. She passed the test—she made you believe she was really changing her accent.

Craig Timberlake is in an unfortunate position — everybody's going to compare him with Rex Harrison. Unfortunately, indeed, for he's a totally different 'iggins than the belted Peter Pan who grew old across the New York stage. Timberlake was the aronist who made the production catch fire.

Angus Cairns was spritely as Eliza's father — but there could have been a little more esprit de corps. Humphrey Davis as Col. Pickering did his job well. He blustered about, acted absurdly English, and worked well in extended speeches.

Eleanor Phelps, Lois Holmes, Houston Allred and Ben Reed turned in professional jobs, supporting the major characters.

Porter Van Zandt, the director, didn't have much time to whip the first night performance into shape, and some of the high spirited exuberance that might have been injected into the production numbers was missing.

The dancers, under the direction of Jack Byron Craig, didn't seem at home in Mountainhome. The choreography was a little stiff.

John Charles Sacco and Neal Kavan, the musical director and assistant, batted out the tunes on twin pianos while Lawrence Jacobs tapped the drums. Very ably done.

Saving the best for last, Jack Bales did the sels. He can pack more color and life into Rowena Stevens' little stage than most set designers can put into the Los Angeles coliseum.

It's worth seeing the play just to see what a really talented set man can do.

Summing up: catchy, with capable acting, and excellent settings. The biggest difference between the Pocono Playhouse performance of "My Fair Lady" and a cold is that I'm glad I caught the performance.
